LIBRARY SPECIAL COLLECTIONS INTERN

Between 1918 and 1976, the Harford County Board of Education assembled a series of scrapbooks that tell the history of the educational system in the county. This collection dates from the beginnings of public education in Maryland through the disruptive years of desegregation to the 200th anniversary of our country. The Historical Society of Harford County is looking for an intern(s) to catalog these and several other collections of scrapbooks and albums in its holdings. The successful applicant(s) will be required to index, digitize and rehouse the volumes for long term preservation.

For more information, please contact the Historical Society of Harford County, Inc. at 410-838-7691 or submit questions to Jacob Bensen (adm@harfordhistory.org).

The Society offers flexible work hours and an internship designed to match your interests and skills while providing valuable work experience and contacts. This is an unpaid internship.

Founded in 1885, the Historical Society of Harford County, Inc. collects and preserves the documents, materials and artifacts that chronicle the history of the county and its citizens.
